April Tournament Recap:

Our April tournament was besieged by a stiff, cool easterly wind that seemed to keep the fish and fishermen from fully cooperating. Still those who solved the 'riddle' (and found a shelter from the relentless wind) were able to gather up some points and plaques along with a decent mess of fish. The U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary was on hand at the weigh-in and performed at least 10 free boat inspections. It was reported that several boating violations were observed which potentially saved the boaters hundreds of dollars in possible fines, and maybe even save their life. Thanks again to the guys from the USCG Aux for their assistance and time!

Those that did fish and/or come to the weigh-in were rewarded with plenty of garden salad and TONS of fine baked ziti with toasted bread courtesy of Tom Brooks and Kyle Eckhoff. Nobody went away hungry, that's for sure! Thanks again guys, great job!!

By the way, the previously announced 'Kids Day' was postponed until a future time when there is more young angler participation at the weigh-ins.
